From 13-16 July 2020, the European Union Intellectual Property Office (EUIPO) and the European Patent Office (EPO) invite you to attend their joint online event "Shaping tomorrow: 3D printing and its impact on IP" which had to be postponed due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

3D printing is disrupting industry in sectors as diverse as footwear and aerospace. However, as with many rapidly advancing technologies, it also brings new challenges to the intellectual property rights system. To help you navigate this ever-changing landscape, the invited presenters and panelists will share their expertise, encouraging and furthering an open and fruitful dialogue between industry, SMEs, academics, policymakers and intellectual property professionals.

The programme is spread across four days, with a short online session on each day. The event is free of charge, and you can choose to attend one, some or all sessions. However registration is required.
